

Australian Electrical Plugs

Just as Europe and North America have differing electrical plugs, so does Australia. Here are some pictures of what the Australian plugs look like. If you're coming from "somewhere else", you will need an adapter to use the local electrical outlets. Also, for our North American friends, Australian power is 230v/50hz.

Searching on Amazon using "australian power plug adapter" produces many results.

A useful website: <https://www.power-plugs-sockets.com/us/australia/>